

From: Ed Crawford
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 12/7/01 6:25pm
Subject: What are those states thinking ??

Attn: US Justice Department
Dear Sirs-

What are those States thinking? A thin version of Windows. Right. This is really going a long way in helping the average American business person.

If Sun and Netscape want to compete, tell them to get their act in gear. Produce a good product, get it on the market and the American public will take care of the rest.

Let's not punish a respectable company that has had to write a lot of the rules in uncharted territory, and has been ethical about it. MS hasn't squeezed the American public for a thing. They have given us a lot and made it reasonably priced.

What a bunch of cry babies. Please tell these states to get with the bandwagon. End this ridiculous law suit and let's get on with rebuilding the American way.

Please have an Excellent Day.
Best Regards-

Ed Crawford
34 Hillside Drive
Gilford, NH 03249

CC: Paul